A Symbol for Carmel Valley?

At a meeting of the Carmel Valley Chamber of Commerce last week, Tom Bottaro suggested that the Valley needs to define its "image".

His comment came during a discussion of the controls that are now exercised over commercial signs.

In this context, it was his idea, and also that of others present, that signs of all kinds should, if possible, follow some kind of a theme, and that once this is agreed upon, that the Planning Commission have the authority to see that all signs not only meet existing standards, but also conform to the theme.

There is no doubt that the idea has much to commend it. Whether it is possible for the Valley to agree on a particular identity, or theme for itself, is something else.

Everyone agrees that Carmel Valley is unique. It is isolated and its primeval loveliness, nestled as it is in a narrow twisting valley with slopes that rise gently or tower abruptly above the rippling waters of the Carmel River, must surely make it one of the beauty spots of the world.

Now that Spring is here in all its glory, the intense verdancy of the valley floor, of the rolling foothills and the towering slopes, are something to behold. Few indeed have been the visitors who have not been awed by this spectacular work of nature; and many have been so enraptured that they have never been able to leave.

Can all this be reduced to a single artistic theme? A theme, or a symbol, that most might agree reflects this American Shangri-La?

Perhaps. But it wouldn't be easy.

No easier, it might be said, than it is for the people who now live here, or who own property here, to agree on how the Valley should be allowed to develop, or the legal controls that should be enacted to make sure that man and nature can be reasonably compatible.

There is, actually, no disagreement on whether the natural beauty should be preserved.

There is, however, disagreement on how strict development controls should be, how precisely they must be defined, and how they are to be carried out.

The Carmel Valley Master Plan, imperfect though it may be, is the present guideline on how the Valley's development should be controlled.

It has been pointed out that the Plan is just that; it does not have the effect of law. Its provisions can be interpreted freely, perhaps not always in the spirit intended.

And Carmel Valley, lovely though it may be, cannot be immune to a certain amount of commercialism, any more than can any other community.

If there is a conflict between conservation and business, it does not mean that it cannot be resolved. Partly, it has been due to a lack of communication; partly it is due to fear, real or imagined; partly it is due to lack of definitive laws.

Incorporation of the Valley has been considered and rejected; it may have disadvantages, but in one area, at least, it would be most helpful. The community then could write its own ordinances as well as enforce them, and not be dependent for final decisions in Salinas, where the Valley has only one voice among five. And the one voice, politics being what they are, is not immune to pressures of all kinds, some subtle, some not so subtle.

Discussions on revising the Master Plan have already started; they will continue for some time. Also under discussion is an ordinance which would put teeth in the Master Plan.

It is to be hoped that these will work out to most everyone's satisfaction. Everyone surely has the right to be heard.

Out of it may come, and hopefully will, an agreeable compromise that will adequately define slope density, zoning in all its ramifications, acreage limitations, private and public roadways, and by some miracle, what is acceptable and what is not acceptable in the granting of use permits.

A pretty big order.

And out of it may come a theme — call it a symbol if you wish — that we can all happily identify with as distinctly Carmel Valley.

For it could also be a symbol of unity.

TO THE EDITOR

THE CARMEL VALLEY MASTER PLAN

Dear Editor:

Enclosed is a letter from Supervisor Willard Branson that should emphatically allay all fears that the Legislative or Planning Branches of the County are guilty of a do-nothing attitude.

Cordially,
Edward P. Marcucci, DDS

April 1, 1969

Dr. Edward Marcucci, Chairman
Monterey County Planning Commission
Courthouse
Salinas, California

Dear Dr. Marcucci:

As you know, a request has been made by the Monterey County Board of Supervisors for a review and possible revision of the Carmel Valley Master Plan. This request will come before the County Planning Commission in the very near future.

Almost a decade has passed since the birth of the Carmel Valley Master Plan and with the anticipated population growth in the County, and particularly in Carmel Valley, it would appear that a review of the Carmel Valley Master Plan, in view of not only the growth over the past ten years but anticipated growth, would be extremely important.

Recent requests for a slope density formula (or 2-1/2 acre minimum) coupled with a request to remove the "G" zone from the K-G-B-4 zoning of Carmel Valley would indicate to me that, with such major revisions taking place, we might very well look at the entire master plan at the same time.

As the Supervisor of the Fifth District, I feel it is particularly within my purview to suggest that the Monterey County Planning Commission take as immediate action as is possible concerning this matter. In my estimation the implementation of a slope density formula, complimented by reasonable road standards, would have a far-reaching beneficial effect upon our Valley. Studies by the Road Department, and sub-committees of the Road Department, concerning road standards have been under way and should furnish you with valuable information for the slope density formula study. It would appear to me that the co-ordination of the findings of the study committee for the Road Department, with the now existing "spangle slope density formula" could very well bring forth a slope density formula without any great addition of expense over what has already been expended.

Most of the residents of Carmel Valley, along with C.V.P.O.A. have recognized that some type of slope density formula would be necessary in the future.

Now, after our recent flooding and the devastation which has been created in other parts of California due to the loosely-held regulations on hillside developments, we are even more acutely aware of the immediate need for hillside protection. I would like, at this time, to take an unprecedented act upon my part in relation to the revision of the Carmel Valley Master Plan by indicating to you and to the members of the Planning Commission that I will support in any way possible, those recommendations and revisions of the Carmel Valley Master Plan which will be reasonable and which will enhance and conserve the beauty of Carmel Valley. I usually reserve such statements for the time that matters come before the Board of Supervisors; however, in this instance I feel that it is most important that such studies be embarked upon without anticipation of governmental impediments of any kind.

Congratulations to you and the County Planning Commission upon its dedication and services to the citizens of Monterey County and to mankind.

Sincerely yours,
Willard T. Branson, Chairman
Monterey County Board of Supervisors

P.O. BOX 308

OAKLAND — April, Good Friday.

"Talked today with Sam who is one of the nice poncho's in the Carmel Valley Post Office. The other nice guys there are Ed and Bob. But the boss is "Smokey". He is a mixture. A friend of mine would have judiciously determined that Smokey was a purebred — large size — "English potlicker" — large enough that he can put his paws upon the counter when you or we are buying stamps or a registered letter to see that Ed, Bob or Sam are not goofing it up."

Thanks to all in the Carmel Valley Post Office for seeing that number 308 remains alive.

We've been away for some time, but during this time Smokey and his gang of helpers have forwarded our things to us wherever we happen to be.

Phyllis (my good wife) is the only one we know who can get to number 308 by simply squatting and working the combination.

We miss Carmel Valley very much. We miss the little old dog for whom traffic stops when he wants to cross the road. And we miss all of you.

We shall be back.

EXCELSIOR!

You may sing about historical achievements of those heroes who exceeded duty's call;
You can bless those chaps who at their own convenience

determine if we fight or not at all.

There are medals for Olympic deeds awarded, which the crowds approve by shouting 'til they're hoarse;

But the greatest feat that's ever been recorded is when I broke a hundred 'round the course!

There are greater men who win the Nobel prizes,
there are millionaires who rose from poverty;

There are astronauts who come in diff'rent sizes and there's scholars who achieve a Ph. D.

But the thrill that turned the ladies' hearts

a-flutter,
though I'm modest, yet I must confess the source:
My performance with the niblick, wood and putter

on the day I broke a hundred 'round the course!

Like the time our heroes stormed ashore on D-day,
like the exultation at your first divorce,

All the gods on our side gathered to see me play when I actually broke a hundred on the course!

CLUB ACTIVITIES

Corral de Tierra Grange

Monday, April 28, has been set as the date for the meeting of the Corral de Tierra Grange when they meet for a pot luck supper and business meeting at 6:30 p.m.

Kiwanis

Great art masters of the past were shown in a film on religious art presented at a meeting of the Kiwanis Club in commemoration of Holy Week when they met at Rippling River Resort last week.

Rev. James W. Brock presented the program which featured the works of the great Italian and Spanish painters with some from other great painters of the period.

Gem & Mineral Society

A long postponed trip will take place Saturday, when the Carmel Valley Gem and Mineral Society will go to Hunter Liggett on a field trip.

The group will rendezvous at the rear of the old Mission on the reservation at about 9:30 a.m. They will be escorted to Oro Fino Canyon, where it is hoped they will find jasper, whalebone, Indian artifacts and possibly some petrified wood.

For those wishing to camp over there is a campground behind the mission.

Boy Scouts plan Disneyland trip

There will be some very excited Boy Scouts over Memorial Day weekend according to Pete Grover, troop scribe, when Scouts of Troop 127 with the highest points in each advancement group go to Disneyland.

The trip planned from May 30 through June 1 will also include the Music Festival in Anaheim featuring the bands of Count Basie, Duke Ellington, Harry James, Sammy Kaye and some of the Nation's finest marching bands.

Those working for advancement from Tenderfoot to Second Class are Carl Black, Dave Morris, Greg Giordone, Mark Olsen, John Scheid, Gary Eldridge and Ron Neilson. Second Class Scouts Gary Ricupero, Scott Green, Bruce Eldridge, and Pete Grover are completing their First Class advancements. Other troop members are working toward their badges for Star, Life and Eagle Rank.

Other outings planned for the trip include: the Submarine Voyage in Tomorrowland; the Matterhorn Bobsleds in Fantasyland; the Pirates of the Caribbean in New Orleans Square; and the Enchanted Tiki Room in Adventureland.

Regular services resume at Community Chapel

The 10 a.m. Morning Worship will be resumed Sunday at the Carmel Valley Community Chapel with Rev. Don Johnson conducting the service. "The Church in Our Lives" will be the topic of the service and a reception of new members will be held.

Those wishing to signify their intentions to unite with the church or have questions about church membership may call Rev. Johnson.

Sierra Club

Two hikes are planned over the week-end by the Sierra Club.

The Old Stage Coach Road will be the setting for the hike Saturday when the group meet at 9 a.m. in the Purity parking lot on Main Street and Iris in Salinas. The unpaved portion of this road leads from the outskirts of Salinas over the hills to San Juan Bautista.

The ten-mile roundtrip is not suitable for beginners. Two hours for lunch in San Juan Bautista to allow sight-seeing at the Mission and the reconstructed buildings of the State Park.

A walk is scheduled for Moss Landing on Sunday when the group will meet at the end of Jetty Road at 10 a.m. with binoculars, lunch and water for a walk along the beach.

The 5-mile round trip to the mouth of the Pajaro River is designed for bird watchers and beachcombers.

C.V. Garden Association

Ali Agha will speak at the meeting of the Carmel Valley Garden Association when they meet Thursday evening (tonight) at 8 p.m. in the Multipurpose Room of the Tulareitos School. "Espaliers in the Garden" will be the topic of the speaker who is a graduate of the University of California at Davis, and a lecturer in horticulture.

Refreshments will be served and the public is invited.

Peninsula

composers present own works

Composers of Monterey Peninsula will appear in a recital of their original compositions Saturday, April 12 at 8:30 p.m. in the Monterey Peninsula College Music Hall. The program is open to the public without charge.

The Music Teachers Association of California will sponsor this first presentation of 8 Peninsula composers, residents of Carmel, Monterey, Pacific Grove, Pebble Beach and Salinas. The composers are Robert Brown, Dan Haerle, Gail Harris (Mrs. Don R. Harris), Elayne Lavrans (Mrs. Roy Chanslor), David Mulder, Marie Oliver, Hascal Vaughan Stewart, and Barrett Williams.

The program includes a variety of works for trumpet, piano and goatbells, piano solos, vocal solos, flute and piano, a mixed ensemble, piano pieces for children, conventional and unconventional instruments with tape system.

Audubon Society

Dr. B.J. Le Boeuf, professor of psychology, will talk before the monthly meeting of the Audubon Society when they meet Friday evening in the Music Room of the Carmel High School at 8 p.m.

Dr. Le Boeuf, who has specialized in animal behavior, will give an illustrated talk on his work during the past three winters on Ano Nuevo Island observing the Northern Elephant Seal.

On a morning bird trip that is open to the public, Dr. William Reese will lead a group that will meet at the entrance to Point Lobos at 9 a.m. Saturday morning.

Wildflower Walks held next two Sundays

The last two Wildflower Walks will take place on Sunday, April 13 and April 20, and not Saturday as previously announced by the Outlook.

The wildflower scene changes each week according to Jim Ziegler, leader of the group, as different varieties come into blossom.

The group will meet at the entrance to the Diamond N Ranch, 1/4 mile from the west end of Miramonte Road, at 9:30 a.m.

Lois Robinson, owner of the ranch, has opened up the property for the easy wildflower walks to the public as well as members of the Sierra Club.

Laureles Grade housing plans

Cluster-type housing is planned on the site of the 1,000 acre McDonald Ranch on Los Laureles Grade, it was indicated in the sale announced last week by Santa Clara land investor Joe Dolan.

The land was purchased for about $1 million in a joint venture of Dolan and Real Estate, Inc., of Sacramento.

As much open space as possible will be retained in its native state, the buyer said. He indicated that the development investment should exceed $20 million over the next several years.

George Bestor of Carmel has been retained to start preparation of plans. The Monterey law offices of Hudson and Dennis handled the sale, and escrow work was by James Jenkins for Title Insurance and Trust, Co.

Donald McDonald will retain a portion of the ranch. His late wife was the novelist Betty McDonald, who wrote many books, including "The Egg and I."

Showing of work by adult art class to commence Saturday

The Carmel Valley Manor is to be the site of the first showing of the work of students enrolled in Miss Nancy Johnson's Carmel Adult School art classes.

The best of this semester's outpouring of her 100 students will be on display for a month, beginning Saturday noon, April 12.

Members of the classes, their families, friends and others interested, are invited to the opening reception on Saturday afternoon, April 12, from 2 to 4 p.m. Both galleries, one off the main building lounge and one in the downstairs crafts room, will display pictures.

What promises to be the outstanding feature of the display is the variety in the work of the five classes given by Miss Johnson in design and color, sketching and watercolor. Among the works will be the initial attempts of potential artists, as well as those who have achieved professional ratings. Their ages range from 18 to 80.

Among the hobbyists and ar-tived artists are active and retired teachers, doctors, nurses, social workers, business men, housewives, a priest, an oil painter who wants to learn new techniques. There are persons who "want to express themselves, at last" with brush and gay colors, learning to put "light against dark", "warm against cool", and those who "want something else to think about", looking for help and inspiration during their weekly three hour sessions.

The common denominator is enthusiasm: for painting and sketching, and for discovering the beauty of the Monterey Peninsula, and expressing it in new ways. This enthusiasm begins with the teacher herself.

Almost any day in the week, you can see what may seem to be an odd assortment of persons sitting somewhere out in the boondocks, a collection of cars standing by, with a slender blonde in blue jeans lecturing above the sound of waves or shrieking jet. The chances are it is one of Nancy Johnson's art classes.

Weather doesn't matter — too much. Wind blows, salt spray flies, teeth chatter, sun burns — but sketching and watercolor are learned on location. Only when the rain pelts down will the class be caught cooped up in a classroom at Sunset Center.

While the fun may start in an outdoor classroom, it often continues when the student explores new worlds with sketchbook and pens. At the end of each holiday season, sketches of places visited across the country — and much further afield — are shown to appreciative audiences. If barns, ocean waves, boats, a row of post boxes on a highway, and 19th century houses are intriguing here, so are aqueducts, castles, public buildings and scenes anywhere else class members may venture. The new felt-tip pens, small and light, along with a sketch pad, can go any place in the world to bring back lasting impressions and memories.

The fee for all this learning is nominal, entrance requirements almost nil, the rewards — at least to the participant — great. For a sampling of what might happen to you, put April 12 to May 12 on your calendar, and come and see.

YOUNG AND BEAUTIFUL, Rosalind Elias will be presented by the Carmel Music Society in its final performance of its 42nd season at the Sunset Auditorium, April 17.

Met star sings at final concert

The leading mezzo soprano of the Metropolitan Opera, Rosalind Elias, will be heard in concert at Sunset Auditorium on Thursday, April 17. She is to be presented by the Carmel Music Society as its final performance during the 42nd season.

Miss Elias is a native of Lowell, Massachusetts, and received her early training at the New England Conservatory. She made her first appearance with the New England Opera Company which led to three summers as a scholarship student at Tanglewood. She later studied in Italy.

Young and beautiful, Rosalind Elias' evenly controlled mezzo voice places her in the first rank of singers in our day.

A few tickets remain for the forthcoming concert, and may be obtained from Carmel Music Society's box office in the Friar Tuck Book Store at Mission near 6th, Carmel (624-7500).

MPC spring choral to be held Sunday

Monterey Peninsula College's 19th annual spring choral concert will be presented, free to the public, Sunday, April 13, at 8:30 p.m. at All Saint's Episcopal Church, Carmel.

Dr. Harvey Marshall, MPC music department chairman, will conduct two student groups, the MPC Chorus and the College Singers, in a varied program.

Highlight of the evening will be the performance by the chorus of Franz Joseph Haydn's "Lord Nelson Mass," a work which has probably never been presented before on the Peninsula, according to Dr. Marshall.

Featured as soloists will be two students — Patrick Duval, tenor, and Eleanor Johnson, mezzo soprano — and two guest soloists — Norma Jean Hodges, soprano, and Robert Armstead, bass-baritone. The latter are distinguished vocalists who have appeared in many local musical events, including the Bach Festival.

The College Singers, smaller group of the two, will sing two Bach chorales and three spirituals.

Organ accompanist will be Camille Olaeta.

Thayer Soule will narrate travel film

THAYER SOULE

Thayer Soule, one of America's foremost travel-adventure film producers, will appear in person at 8:15 p.m., Friday, April 11, at Carmel Sunset Auditorium to narrate his new two-hour color travel and adventure film "I Love Mexico".

The show is the final performance in the current Explorama Series which is sponsored by The Explorers Club of San Francisco.

Soule is a graduate of Harvard University where he had special courses in exploration, geology and history. He was production assistant to Burton Holmes for twenty years. During World War II, he landed at Guadalcanal as officer in charge of the Marine's First Field photographic unit and later headed another unit at Iwo Jima where he won the Bronze Star. At war's end he was in charge of all Marine Corps photography in the Pacific area.

The film he will present in Carmel highlights the areas of Mexico that he has come to love during his many visits there through the years. The program features Mexico City, Taxco, Acapulco, Guadalajara and ancient Mayan and Toltec ruins.

Reserved seats are available at Central Box Office in Carmel and tickets will also be available at the Auditorium after 7:15 p.m. the night of the show.

HAVING APPEARED TWICE ON the Monterey Peninsula, the Gary Burton Quartet returns again Thursday (tonight) to appear at the Monterey Peninsula College gymnasium at 8:30 p.m. Gary Burton, vibraphonist, (above) plays with three other musicians — guitarist Larry Coryell, bassist Steve Swallow and drummer Bob Moses.

Welcome Wagon observes its 41st anniversary

Welcome Wagon International is observing the 41st anniversary, April 13-17, of its founding as an organization, dedicated to the family, social welfare, national defense, and civic progress. The General Store is WW newest sponsor in Carmel Valley. Other local businesses are the CV Outlook, Bowers Pharmacy and the Chamber of Commerce.

The Welcome Wagon hostess is a friendly link between her community and the newcomer, easing the over-burdening difficulties of establishing a new family living pattern. The local representative will be happy to make a visit anywhere in the Valley with her pretty basket of gifts and information. For more information or a visit, call 659-4055 or 659-2411.

C.V. Scouts have fun in the snow

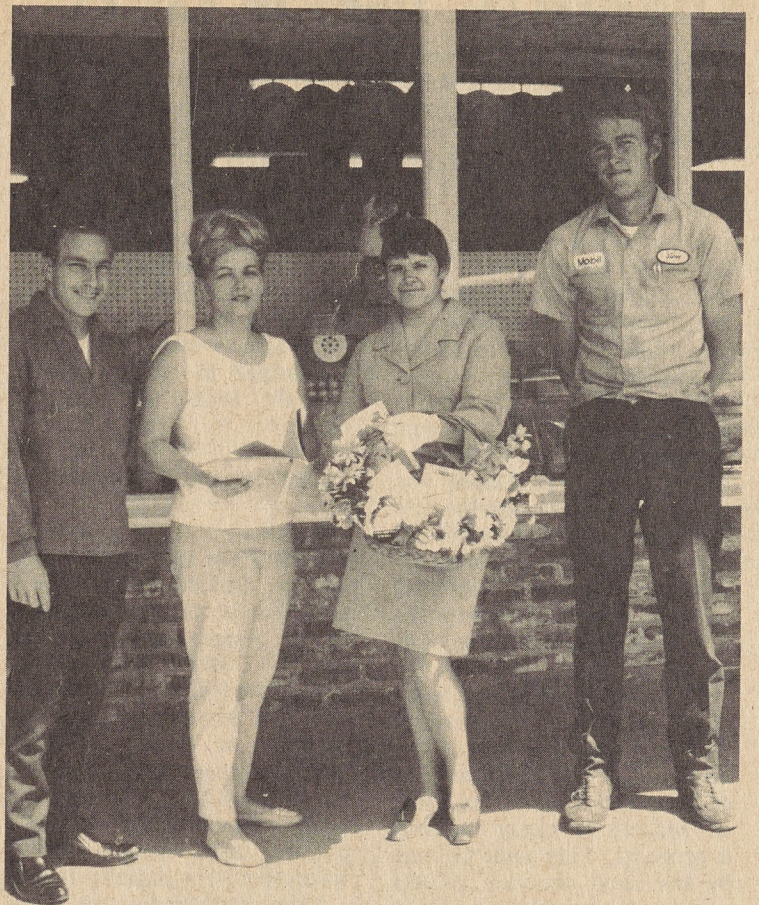

Thirteen Scouts of Troop 127 of Carmel Valley enjoyed a ski outing at Camp Curry and Badger Pass in Yosemite. Sid Williams of the Carmel Scout Troop came along to help with pointers on skiing.

Saturday morning, March 29, with Mr. Seashore and Mr. Williams to assist us, we were off to the snow covered slopes. Bruce Eldridge, Manuel Mancebo, and Dave Morris were seen skiing down Slope 2. On Slope 1 were Scott Green, Gary Ricupero, Ron Neilson, John Scheid, and Pete Grover. Having fun in the snow on inner tubes were Dan Curran, Gary Eldridge, Carl Black, Mark Olson and Greg Giordano.

Evening found us visiting each other in our cabins and having an old fashioned snow ball fight.

Sunday was spent skiing and playing in the snow. Some of the troop returned Sunday night. Others stayed and returned on Monday. It was great fun for everyone.

HOBART DOUGLAS SKIDMORE

Services were held last week for Hobart Douglas Skidmore, novelist and short story writer and a resident of Merrill Way for the past 16 years.

He died at Veterans Hospital, Palo Alto, following a brief illness.

Born April 11, 1909, he was a native of Webster Spring, W.Va. and was a veteran of Army service in World War II.

Skidmore was the author of more than 30 short stories and articles published by Vogue, Colliers, Ladies Home Journal, Harpers and other magazines, as well as a number of anthologies.

His novels, published by Random House, Doubleday and Houghton-Mifflin included "Valley of the Sky," "More Lives Than One," "Disturb Not Our Dreams," "Oh, Careless Love," and "The Years Are Even."

He is survived by his mother, Mrs. Daisy Skidmore of Elmira, N.Y., two brothers and a sister.

A word about nude swimming.

The beautiful abandon of swimming in the raw is an experience of sensual, almost spiritual joy.

Do it alone, do it with friends, do it with the better half—but by all means, do it in an Anthony Pool. Because in an Anthony Pool the plaster is smooth, the lighting is at its flattering best, and the water is warm and safe from germs.

The naked truth is some pools just don't work too well. In the past 10 years, over 200 California pool companies went down the drain or changed their names. Many people who bought pools wound up taking a bath instead of a swim.

Anthony is the world's largest builder of pools. Wouldn't you feel better having the industry leader build your pool. Write for all the bare facts.

NEW POLICY SUGGESTED FOR COMMERCIAL SIGNS IN VALLEY

Should the County Planning Commission adopt a specific policy on commercial signs in Carmel Valley?

This question was discussed at a luncheon meeting of the Carmel Valley Chamber of Commerce last Thursday at the Rancho del Monte.

The idea was proposed by Tom Bottaro after the group had heard a discussion on design control in the Valley by Dr. Edward P. Marcucci, chairman of the Planning Commission.

Bottaro said that he felt that the planning commission was mostly concerned with the do's and the don'ts of commercial signs. He suggested that an affirmative policy on what kind of signs are most appropriate for the Valley would also be in order.

In the same spirit, Skip Marquard, chamber vice president who presided at the meeting, said that he felt that some kind of proposed regulations could be adopted to carry out such a proposal. This could be done by the local chamber as well as other groups. They could then be considered both by the Advisory Boards as well as the Planning Commission.

WHAT KIND OF IMAGE?

Bottaro suggested that if the Valley could decide what kind of community it is—residential, resort or whatever—that a sign policy might well be adopted in keeping with such an image.

Dr. Marcucci said that this idea had merit, but that it presented a number of difficulties. As it is now, the limit on the size of signs (35 sq. feet), location, height and lighting, as well as design, are all taken into consideration. But in the areas of color, and the specific kind of sign, a great deal of latitude is permitted.

He pointed out that businesses with "brand names" present a particular problem in seeking some kind of uniform signing. He mentioned the oil companies, banks, etc.

And certain businesses seek to present an image in keeping with their kind of business. John Koon, owner of the House of Koon, emphasized this; his restaurant, which serves Chinese food, has to present itself with a certain amount of Oriental atmosphere, including the use of gold, red and black colors.

All agreed that sign control has helped in preserving the natural beauty of Carmel Valley.

CARMEL VALLEY FIRST

Dr. Marcucci, in reviewing the history of sign control, said that the Carmel Valley Village area was the first in the county to be placed under "D" or Design Control Regulations, back in September, 1948. It was allocated for the Farm Center in 1950, at Wolters in 1953, and the commercial area at the mouth of the Valley in 1958. Other commercial areas were placed under design control when they were initially zoned.

Sign regulations are more restrictive than what is normally allowed in a straight commercial district. Signs are also controlled when Use Permits are approved for various uses.

Dr. Marcucci said that signing is carefully watched; there were 30 violations reported here in the last fiscal year, more than any other part of the county except North County where there were 53.

Curt Cable, zoning investigator, said that he receives about 4 complaints a month from the Carmel Valley area, all of which are cleared up at once.

Willard T. Branson, chairman of the county board of supervisors, praised the work of the Planning Commission in controlling commercial signing.

"The commission may spend as much time in considering a small sign as it does on a multi-million dollar housing project," he said. Members even make field trips to see that signs meet approved standards.

And he added, he saw nothing wrong with the idea discussed at the meeting—full consideration of a policy which would even further control commercial signs.

Marian Weygers 'Imprints from Nature'

now on exhibit

A special month-long exhibition titled "Imprints from Nature" by Marian Weygers will supplement the Museum's 8th Annual Wildflower Show which is scheduled for three days, April 18 through 20th.

Mrs. Weygers and her artist husband Alex live in Carmel Valley. The grounds of their residence are fairly well left as nature intended with wildflowers and trees allowed to grow in profusion. This is the source of the subject matter of "Imprints from Nature."

The artist actually uses the leaves, petals, twigs of the landscape as the "plates" for a printing process which she herself developed. With printer's ink and a careful hand, compositions of delicate beauty are achieved.

The choice of soft papers and understated compositions immediately make one think of Japanese scrolls and things Oriental. Mrs. Weygers attributes this to Chiura Obata, one of her instructors during her art studies at the University of California.

The prints are all one of a kind since the very character of Mrs. Weyger's printing process allows her to use each leaf or flower petal only once.

The exhibit will remain through April and may be viewed daily except Monday from 10 a.m. until 5 p.m.

Pebble Beach and Carmel Garden Tour

Nine of the most exclusive gardens in Pebble Beach and Carmel will be open to public view May 12 during the annual spring Garden Tour.

The Tour is sponsored by the Monterey Peninsula Volunteer Services for the benefit of the Visiting Nurses Association.

Mrs. Richard L. Bower of Pebble Beach, chairman of the garden selection committee, has announced this year's tour will include four private gardens in Pebble Beach and five in Carmel.

Names of the owners will be announced when final selections are made, according to Mrs. Bower.

A tea for those attending the tour will be served at "Woodport," the Seventeen Mile Drive home of Mrs. T.A. Work.

Arrangements are also being made for a poolside buffet luncheon at the Beach and Tennis Club. Tickets for this are limited to ticket holders for the tour only.

They may be obtained by writing either P.O. Box 3136, Carmel or 1069 Del Monte Blvd., Pacific Grove. Tickets for luncheon may also be reserved by calling 624-7246 or 375-4261.

Tour tickets may be purchased at any of the gates leading to the Seventeen Mile Drive.

Players named to four Carmel Valley Little League teams

Following tryouts at Casey Field, players have been named to the four teams which comprise the Major League teams of the Carmel Valley Little League.

Parents and fans will note that each team lists a roster of only thirteen players as opposed to the fifteen man teams of previous years. The two vacancies are expected to be filled by boys drafted after the season begins from the Farm Teams.

Sal O'Campo will manage the VOLUNTEERS and their coach will be Gary Moore. Players include: Mario Avila, Rudy Avila, David Berta, Dario Crippen, Alan Crockett, Bob Egli, Mark Fuller, Richard Mark, Laurence O'Campo, James Smith, Shawn Swiss, Sergio Villarreal, and Philip Wright.

Playing for the LIONS will be Kelley Bowser, Edward Canadas, Jeffrey Canadas, Danny Carolan, Bruce Crane, Richard Ferris, Jeff Hall, Warren Heaviside, Robert May, David Morris, Steven Ortmann, Richard Palmer, Tony Scardina, Dana Schach and Mark Suno. Manager of the Lions will be Hap Thystrup with Dick Crane coaching.

Managing the GIANTS will be Lin Egli with Bill Stowers coaching. Team members are Danny Ascarate, Mike Busick, Thomas Giordano, Kenneth Hohler, Kin Kvenild, George Lockwood, Laurent Longfellow, Scott McKenzie, William Niedinger, Steven Polson, Steve Savoldi, Richard Smith and Gary Yohman.

Farm Team rosters will appear in next week's Outlook.

Board warns TV and movie industry

SALINAS (CNA) - You can make moving pictures in our county, but you cannot annoy the residents, the Board of Supervisors told the Hollywood movie and television industry.

The board edict came as the result of a complaint from Ansel Adams and Richard F. McGraw, of Carmel, against low-flying aircraft.

Supervisor Loren E. Smith asked what jurisdiction the county had over its airspace, Board of Supervisors.

Board Chairman Willard T. Branson asked Bruce W. McClain, road department head, for his "prognosis" for the big washout below Wagon Wheel, and McClain answered: "My prognosis is that it will be expensive."

The road department official said state people are studying the road. He added that he hopes, when repairs are done, that it will be strong enough to resist any future storms.

Pressed for an estimate of the cost, McClain said the present estimate is under $100,000. He added: "I think when we get down to figuring what fill will be required it will be quite a bit more."

"Less than $200,000?" asked Branson. When there was no answer, the chairman said: "You're squirming." Then, he relented, and McClain was not required to come up with a final figure.

In another action involving roads in Carmel Valley, super-

McClain said that maintaining the roads in the subdivision would be of great help in keeping up Carmel Valley roads. But he added that there was no way to insure that the private roads would be maintained, un-

Smith disagreed, and Supervisors indicated they would take up a study of control over private roads in subdivisions at a later meeting.

PROFILE OF CARMEL VALLEY CHURCHES

St. Philip's Lutheran Church is newest in Carmel Valley

RAIN WAS ALL AROUND but it did not come near the Easter Egg Hunt sponsored by the Volunteer Firemen Sunday at the firehouse. Plenty of Easter baskets for children and hot coffee for adults were available for the afternoon's festivities that had a tremendous turnout.

TRANSPORTATION IS partially open across the San Juan bridge as evidenced by the work of the bulldozers that have pushed the earth up to the broken span.

WE ARE SAFELY PAST last Friday's prediction that we would all be swimming in the ocean, but now a new date has cropped up. The exodus of the hippies (I haven't missed any) is supposed to be indicative that the event is sure to happen April 18, according to the next prediction as to when California is supposed to split and slide into the Pacific. But don't hold your breath.

THAT FANTASTIC "EARTH STATION" up Carmel Valley Road near Jamesburg — better known as Comsat — will be formally completed later this month. A landmark of the facility is a parabolic "dish" antenna, 97 feet in diameter, standing taller than a 10-story building. Watch the Outlook for further details.

THE REV. J. BERNHARD BRETHEIM, pastor of St. Philip's Lutheran Church, stands in front of his new church on Carmel Valley Road. — Photography by George T.C. Smith

BY CHARLES JENNINGS

St. Philip's Lutheran Church is the youngest church in Carmel Valley; it has been an official congregation of the American Lutheran Church for less than three years.

Under the direction of Pastor J. Bernhard Bretheim, however, St. Philip's seems to be already charting a rather steady course in the religious life of Carmel Valley.

Traditionally more conservative theologically than many other Protestants, Lutherans have been slower to join the ecumenical movement than the Episcopalians, the Methodists and others, although dialogue is taking place with Lutheran theologians participating.

According to Rev. Bretheim, Lutherans have a stronger doctrinal emphasis than other Protestant denominations, and, consequently, often feel their faith is unrepresented in the ecumenical movement. The very fact that the American Lutheran Church established a Carmel Valley congregation is evidence of this feeling.

Rev. Bretheim sees the role of his church as complimentary to the already extant religious life of the community. Rather than compete with the established churches, he wishes to see St. Philip's reach those who "appreciate the ministry of the Lutheran faith."

And what is the "ministry of the Lutheran faith," the Lutheran viewpoint? "Lutherans desire a personal relationship with Christ," answers Rev. Bretheim, "with a strong Biblical basis for the faith we confess."

"My basic approach is that I think one of the most important roles of the minister is that of a teacher of true Christian teachings. So I think one of the prime functions of a minister should be that of a theologian with a strong Biblical orientation for his teaching."

The Sunday service is traditionally the focal point of most Western religions, and, as such, it often serves as a reliable indication of a particular denomination's theology and general religious outlook. At St. Philip's, where at least half of the formal service is devoted to a sermon, and half to the historical Lutheran liturgy, this dictum seems to hold true. The religious life of St. Philip's can perhaps be best understood in terms of the two basic themes represented in its service — evangelism and traditional worship.

The educational theme is most prominent at St. Philip's. In addition to the sermon, a post-service discussion is held every Sunday, with the congregation participating in a religious dialogue.

Specialized religious instruction is offered to seventh through ninth graders (preconfirmation instruction), and adult inquirers.

Rev. Bretheim is quite adamant in stressing the importance of adult instruction. "We begin with children, but feel that adults should continue learning, discussing Christian principles in relation to current life."

The second theme in St. Philip's Sunday service, that of traditional worship, is an essential part of the Lutheran religion. This theme is expressed in the form of an historical liturgy which contains elements of early Christian ritual since the reformation; the congregation has participated in a communion service, and the minister wears vestments and uses an altar. The liturgy also follows the traditional Christian calendar, similar in this respect to the Catholic and Episcopal religions.

The predominant theme of the liturgy is the sacrifice of Christ, and this sacrifice is celebrated, but not repeated (as is the case in Catholic theology), in every service. This rather fine theological point is explained by Rev. Bretheim: "We believe Christ gives His body and blood in and with the bread and the wine in the Lord's Supper."

The importance of traditional Christian thinking at St. Philip's can be seen in Rev. Bretheim's view of social action among the clergy. Although he is not directly opposed to those members of the clergy who participate actively in the social and political life of a community, he conceives of his role differently. "We participate in the community life through and together with our congregation... the direction of our ministry is strongly educational, carried back into the community with a practical application of Christian principles."

"I think there is a real need in the community for clarification of real Christian truth today because of the religious voices which have been publicized. Some people have latched onto the rather strange teachings of a few mavericks."

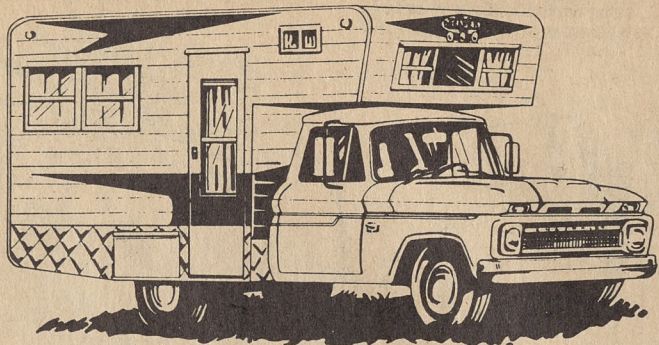

St. Philip's, as we mentioned, is still a young church (approximately forty member families), and is still faced with many of the problems young churches always experience. Yet, despite these problems, St. Philip's appears to have already established a secure position in the religious life of Carmel Valley.

St. Philip's Lutheran Church is located on Carmel Valley Road near Schulte Road in Carmel Valley, and holds service at 10:00 a.m. each Sunday.

The governing body of St. Philip's Church is the Church Council. The membership is as follows: Lt. Stephen Seyl, Monterey, president; Wayne McMillan, Monterey, vice-president; Mrs. Robert Alden, Carmel, secretary; Ed Goodrick, Carmel; Wayne Moore, Carmel Valley; and Alvin Petersen, Seaside.

ENGAGEMENT ANNOUNCED

A romance that began when they were attendants at a wedding will culminate with a wedding, their own, June 8 at 2:00 p.m. at the Carmel Valley Community Chapel.

Friends invited to a birthday tea honoring John H. Hughes received the happy news of the engagement of Adele and John's daughter, Wendy Ann to Donald Zerwer. The tea was given at the Hughes home on DeAmaral Road at 4:00 p.m.

Wendy and Don met at the wedding of Mr. and Mrs. Doug Sprague. Ginnie and Wendy had been high school chums and following their college years, returned to the Peninsula to room together for five years. Wendy taught in the Alisal School district and Ginnie was a nurse at the Community Hospital until her marriage to Doug, who is executive director of the YMCA in Monterey.

Don, who has been executive director of the North West YMCA in Sunnyvale for 7 years is a graduate of George Williams College in Donners Grove, Ill.

The Shippensburg College in Shippensburg, Pa., is Wendy's alma mater.

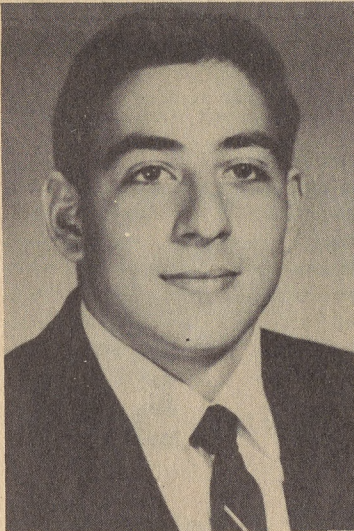

Scouts to organize national chapter

A meeting to organize a chapter of the Knights of Dunamis, a national Eagle Scout honor society, will be held Thursday, April 17 at 7:30 p.m. in the community room of the Monterey Savings and Loan on Tyler Street in Monterey, announced Scout Executive Frank Buck.

To serve as advisor to the Valley man heads HEW civil rights

Leon Panetta, 31, former resident of Carmel Valley and son of Mr. and Mrs. Carmelo Panetta, was named to head the civil rights section of Health, Education and Welfare last week by H.E.W. Secretary Robert Finch.

He is at present in Washing-organization is Myron B. Haas, a Monterey attorney, former Eagle Scout and a member of the council executive board.

All Eagle Scouts, young and old, are invited to attend the organization meeting. Earl Schmidt, member of the national board of the Knights of Dunamis will present the program for the evening, and will be assisted by Dr. Arthur Benoit, past council president and an Eagle Scout.

Plans are being hurried to organize a local chapter so Eagle Scouts from this area can take part in the national Knights of Dunamis conference to be held at Asilomar, July 7-10, 1969.

ton, D.C., where he has worked for H.E.W. this past year. The section he will head is primarily concerned with enforcement of school desegregation.

A versatile artist as well as a student of law, Panetta gave his first piano concert at the age of 11 in Monterey. He attended Monterey High School, and was later graduated from undergraduate school and law school at the University of Santa Clara.

After receiving his law degree in 1963, he served as a lieutenant in the Army for two years.

KUCHEL AIDE

The former Valleyite worked for two years as a legislative assistant for Sen. Thomas H. Kuchel, R-Calif., until his defeat for re-election this year.

His parents reside on Panetta Rd. where they own a walnut ranch and have resided for 22 years. They are both natives of Italy. During World War II, the senior Panetta ran Carmelo's Restaurant at Alvarado and Del Monte in Monterey. He built the Panetta professional building at Pacific and Madison.

Joseph Panetta, brother of Leon, is an assistant district attorney in Monterey.

EASTER PARTY

Classmates were invited to an early Easter party given for their son, Dennis, by Mr. and Mrs. Mal Tavares at their home on El Caminito. Under a false ceiling of ribbons, balloons, and paper chains of red, blue, and gold, the children bobbed for apples, played games, danced and enjoyed refreshments.

Melody Mancebo portraying a darling darkeyed Easter Bunny in costume led the youngsters on an Easter egg hunt and presented each guest with bags of candy favors.

Attending were Karen Knight, Jerry Nelson, Jenny Stusek, Kathy Peach, Carol Valentini, Peggy Draper, David Nelson, Kimmie May, and Julian Stusek. The Tavares family with children Darlene, Danny, and Dennis spent a portion of their Easter holiday at Pismo Beach.

TIMES HAVE CHANGED

Released in this edition of the Outlook are Little League Team assignments for the 1969 season. Wonder how many of you remember THOSE GOOD OLD DAYS when the Carmel Valley "League" was made up of teams known as "The Valley Wood Rats" (enlisting members of MacDonald and the Wolters families), "The Jamesburg Wood Ticks", and "The Carmel Sand Fleas" who boasted teammates Joe Hitchcock and members of the Martin family?

Play was on a hayfield, the prize: twelve blackberry pies forfeited by the losing team to the victors of the "Abalone League"!

DONATIONS WANTED

Members of the Poppy Bluebird Group are asking Valley residents to assist them with their chosen service project.

The girls have been in contact with Father Lawrence Farrell, chaplain of Soledad Prison, who has told them of the need for books, magazines and old records for the prisoners.

The girls would like to make up a shipment for them and ask that anyone having donations please call Mrs. Patricia De Amaral, 659-4387.

NEW ARRIVAL

Bacteriology, Microchemistry, and the wonders of Nuclear Physics took a back seat last week in the Science Department at Carmel Middle School with the exciting announcement of the birth of Amy Michelle Schut.

The baby girl, their first child, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Roland Schut of Del Monte Blvd. in Pacific Grove.

Mr. Schut is a popular instructor of Science.

10TH ANNIVERSARY

Celebrating their tenth anniversary last Tuesday evening at the opening of Will's Fargo were Mr. and Mrs. William Walker of Lilac Lane. Beth and Bill have just returned recently from a trip celebrating Bill's retirement and their wedding date, designated as the "year of tin". Stops were made in Palm Springs, El Centro, Yuma, Tuscon, Phoenix and many other places where friends live who were met during the many years of Bill's career as a leading man in the produce business in the Salinas Valley.

THE THEME WAS GREEN

It was a great day for the Irish (both authentic and simulated!) when the St. Dunstan's Benefit Bridge and Canasta party used GREEN for their theme.

Meeting at the lovely new Valley Greens Drive home of Mrs. Karl Kunz, hostesses who helped Mary plan the party were Mrs. Linda Witherspoon and Mrs. Kathryn Walker. Green tallies with one variegated and one plain ivy leaf attached, green nut cups, napkins - all played a role in the tribute to the Emerald Isle.

Table prizes of small crystal vases filled with growing ivy plants trimmed with green ribbons were presented to Mmes. Alice Johnson, Adele Reynolds, Ruth Stauffer, Charlotte Spangler, Gertrude Sanford, Carlilye Mothersill, Gretchen Glod, Vera Stokes and Mothera Sturgiss.

High in bridge for the afternoon was Mrs. Mothersill, second Mrs. Sanford, and the canasta high was won by Mrs. Sturgiss.

Mrs. Heidi Von Pagenhardt of West Carmel Valley Road will entertain for the group on April 23. Ladies are invited to make their reservations before April 20 by phoning Mrs. Walker at 659-2280.

EASTER VISITORS

Sharing Easter with their grandfather are the Leanza children, Steve, Tony and Danny. With their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Sam Leanza of Aliso Road, the boys welcomed Paul Leanza of Cleveland, Ohio, when he landed at the San Francisco airport for a month's visit in the Valley.

Carmel High in consolation finals of Santa Cruz tourney

BY HAROLD GANN

Carmel's Varsity Baseball Team advanced to the Consolation Finals in the Dad's Booster Club Tournament at Santa Cruz last week, but the Saturday afternoon finals was rained out.

This game will be played Saturday afternoon, April 19, and the Padre opponent is Redwood High School of Menlo Park.

Carmel, behind the excellent pitching of Lee Mark, bowed to a strong Soquel High team of the Monterey Bay League, 2-0, in an opening round game of the 8-team tourney last Thursday evening, but bounced back to shatter Harbor High of Santa Cruz, 8-2, Friday evening with Sophomore slowballer Tom Boyd striking out four, walking none, and giving up six hits to notch the victory.

Next Padre Broadcast is this Friday, 8:00 p.m. over KRSA-

FM, 100.7 Mc., against arch-rival Pacific Grove in an important MTAL game at Carmel High (gametime: 4:00 p.m. Friday).

Last week was a very active one for Monte Feekis and his baseballers. The Red and White defeated Kennedy of Fremont and Del Mar of San Jose in the annual San Jose Lions Club Tournament, after losing an opening round game to Samuel Ayer of San Jose.

They were beaten in the Consolation Semifinals by Overfelt, also of San Jose, 3-2, in a game almost won by Jimmy DeAmiral's long fly to the outfield with one man on. Had there been a fence in the ordinary position for high school baseball, it would have easily been a game-winning home run for the scrappy outfielder, who hit 6 for 8 in the tourney, and stole 4 bases.

Other good hitting was provided by Thirdbaseman Jay August, whose 3 for 4 hits and 4 runs-batted-in helped place the Padres into the Consolation Finals of the Santa Cruz Tournament.

"We played one of our best games of the season against Soquel in the opening round loss," comments Feekis. "Mark was hurling well, but we just couldn't bunch the hits together." It, too, should be pointed out that Soquel is faring well in the MBL, having reached the semifinals of the Salinas Tournament, besting such teams as Monterey and Seaside High.

Feekis is expected to give the starting hurler nod to Mark in the PG tilt, with Boyd and Senior Mike Dress, who lost to Overfelt by just one run last week, ready to relieve, should Lee's fastball not find the "Mark".

Suspect traced by boot print

Thomas V. Vanzant, 24, of Merced was arraigned in Monterey Municipal Court Tuesday morning charged with burglary in Carmel Valley.

Deputies said Vanzant was found in possession of a chain saw, valued at $150, and a saddle reported stolen from the Douglas ranch one-half hour before his arrest.

Also allegedly found and taken as evidence was a .22 rifle reported missing from the Bill Lambert Ranch in Jamesburg, and 8 rare coins reported taken from Frank Papineau, manager of the Adobe Oaks Inn, deputies said.

Tracing a path of peculiar boot prints marked by an odd shaped heel, deputies found a trail from the house of George Jackson, who is manager of the Douglas Ranch, to the shed where a chain saw was previously placed. From there the trail led to automobile and trailer prints which were traced to the Lambert Ranch.

According to deputies, Vanzant, his wife and 6-month old child came to the Valley a week ago and asked Jackson for shelter, which he gave with food and two-week's work. He reported keys to the kitchen and storage room missing upon their departure.

Frank Papineau told deputies he was contacted by the Family Service Agency, asking him to lodge the Vanzants. After they departed two days later, Papineau reported eight rare coins missing.

Sunday the Vanzants returned to the ranch for a brief visit, Jackson told deputies, and soon after he noticed the saw missing.

Vanzant was arrested at the Lambert Ranch where the boot trail ended.

Valley Master Plan is up for further discussion

Some indication of the direction in which development controls in Carmel Valley will take may well be determined within the next few weeks.

A meeting scheduled to be held Wednesday by the County Planning Commission included on its agenda further consideration of changes in the present Master Plan.

At the same time the Carmel Valley Property Owners Assn. is pressing for more stringent controls on hillside property.

At a board meeting last week the group decided to meet with other communities — including Carmel Highlands, Carmel Riviera and Big Sur — in an effort to seek support for its position.

Favor was given to a county ordinance which would spell out controls on any building on slopes, and if possible, ensure that there will be no reduction of the one-acre minimum.

County Supervisor Willard T. Branson has advised the group that he supports revision of the Master Plan at this time and that he has no intention of allowing any measures which would or could mar the scenic beauty of the Valley.

A letter on his position in this matter is published in this week's Outlook.

The CVPOA meets on Thursday, April 17, and has asked Dr. Edward Marcucci of Carmel Valley, chairman of the County Planning Commission, to explain what the commission and the county planning department propose for future development controls in Carmel Valley. Supervisor Branson and Commissioner Keith Evans have also been invited to attend and speak to the group.

The group meets at the Community Center.

Local artist exhibits prints at Tantamount

Dick Crispo will present his prints in the Green Room Gallery of the Tantamount Theatre during the month of April.

His paintings and prints are being presented by the Carmel Graphics Center at Sunset Center, Room 4.

BEAUTIFUL NEW UNITED CALIFORNIA BANK WILL OPEN MONDAY AT CARMEL RANCHO

An all-day fun festival with free gifts and refreshments for everyone plus ice cream cones and balloons for the children will mark the opening Monday, April 14, of United California Bank's new Carmel Rancho office, located in the Carmel Rancho Shopping Center on Carmel Valley Road.

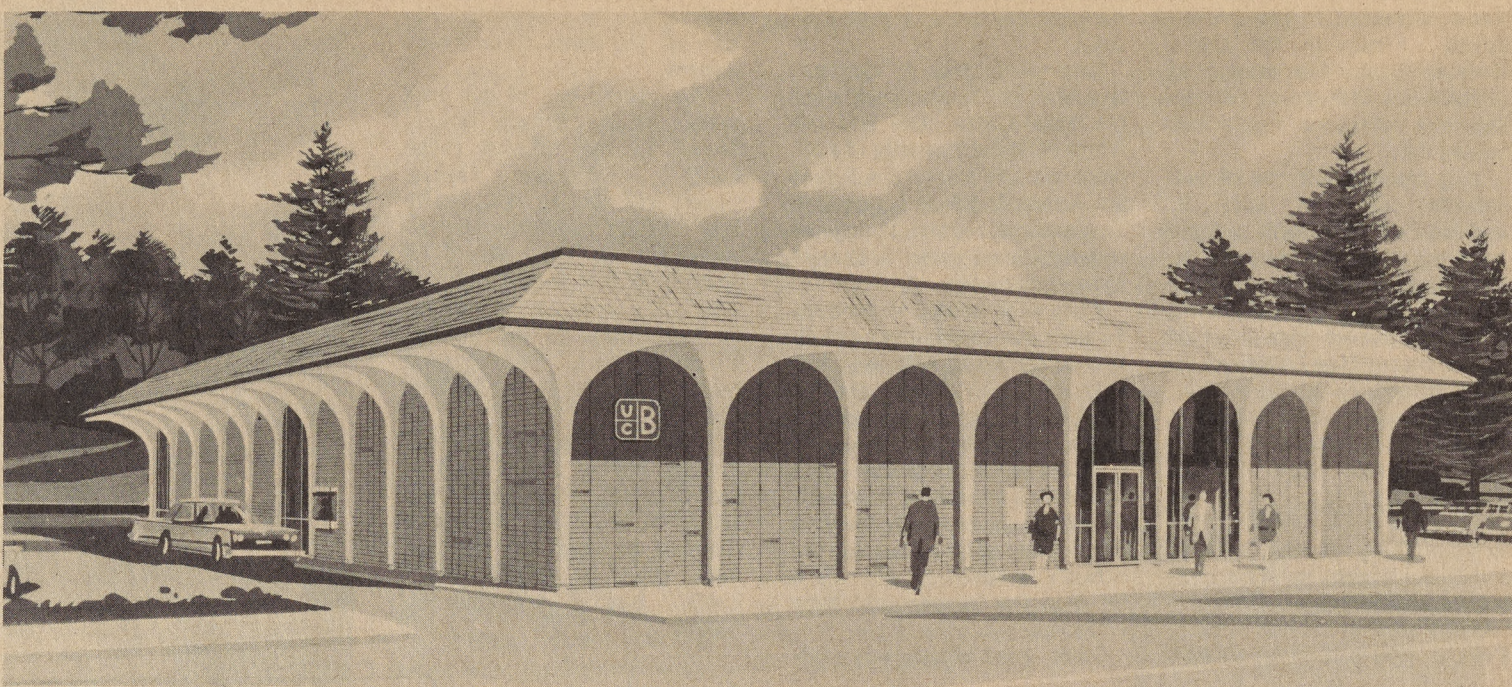

An added attraction will be a U.S. currency exhibit consisting of genuine gold certificates and Federal Reserve notes ranging from $1 to $100,000.

The business of the UCB Carmel Rancho office has outgrown its present building, also located on Carmel Valley road, and this situation will be remedied as the bank moves into its spacious new quarters.

Hosting a 9:30 a.m. symbolic key and door opening ceremony will be J. Scott Rambach, manager of the office. Participants will include civic dignitaries and United California Bank executive officers.

Among those scheduled to assist at the formal opening activities are Mrs. Mary Barter, president, Carmel Business Association; Willard Branson, chairman, board of supervisors, Monterey County; Robert Kvenild, president, Carmel Valley Chamber of Commerce; and Bernard F. Laiolo, mayor of Carmel.

Coming from United California Bank are K.S. Graham, vice president, regional coordination - Monterey; C.H. Lipson, vice president, California division, San Francisco headquarters; W.A. Maurer, senior vice president, Los Angeles Main office; and M.F. Parker, vice president, branch administration, San Francisco headquarters.

UNITED CALIFORNIA BANK-CARMEL RANCHO, CARMEL-BY-THE-SEA, CALIFORNIA

Immediately following the formal ceremony, the bank will welcome the public to an all-day open house. In addition to souvenir gifts for everyone, hourly drawings beginning at 12:00 noon will be held for free Sony portable televisions. United California Bank medallions will be given to those who open new accounts.

Tickets for the drawings have been mailed to residents of the area surrounding the office and additional tickets may be obtained on the opening day at the bank where they may be deposited in the drawing receptacle between 10 a.m. and 4:30 p.m. Winners need not be present to win and will be notified by telephone of their good luck.

BIG INVESTMENT

The new bank building represents an investment by the bank and landlord of $335,000, including construction costs of approximately $200,000 plus $135,000 for furniture, fixtures, and vault equipment. The one-story building contains 5300 square feet of banking area and 1900 square feet for future expansion which temporarily will be used as rental space.

The building is constructed of steel columns supporting glulam beams. Ornamental plaster and stucco arches are distinctive features of the building's interior and exterior. Walls are slump stone, glass, and sheet rock. Unique interior effects were achieved by the bank's interior decorator, Noal Betts of San Francisco. The flooring in the public area is ornamental glazed ceramic tile.

Two seating areas in the lobby are carpeted as is the officer's platform and the balance of the office is floored with vinyl asbestos tile. An acoustical tile ceiling has recessed lighting fixtures and the lobby is illuminated by ornamental chandeliers designed by Noal Betts. Banking fixtures are walnut matching walnut furniture.

The bank offers complete banking services, a night depository for merchants and businessmen, a drive-up teller window, safe deposit facilities, and a self-operating copier for public use. Parking is in common with other shopping center tenants.

Architect for the building was George K. Raad & Associates and general contractor was Dolphin Construction Company. Owner is Carmel Rancho, Inc.

The Carmel Rancho office of United California Bank is one of a statewide chain of 218 branch offices. As of March 31, United California Bank had deposits of $3.7 billion, loans of more than $2.6 billion, and capital funds of $305 million. Total resources are $4.6 billion.

Bankwarming.

*You are most cordially invited to help us celebrate the opening of our new office on Carmel Valley Road.
From 10 to 5 (our normal banking hours),
Monday, April 14.*

J. Scott Rambach,
Manager

We love our location so much, we just couldn't move far away. So we're just opposite our old office—you can't miss us.

Our new office is a delight! You'll enjoy the roominess and increased facilities. All to save you time and better serve your many banking needs. Modern, up-to-date. And yet, we have moved over some of our period pieces—including the rolltop desk. See how well they look in their new surroundings!

Unlike most housewarmings, at a bankwarming you're not asked to bring a gift. Instead we have some for you. Drawings for Sony Portable TVs, every hour on the hour from 12 to 5. Free ice cream cones for the children. Refreshments for all.

You'll also enjoy an interesting exhibit. Through the courtesy of the U.S. Secret Service, we will have on display an exhibit of old U.S. Gold Certificates and Federal Reserve Notes. Fascinating.

Please remember the date. Monday, April 14. We sincerely hope to greet you at our new office.

County turns down flashing warning light on C.V. Rd.

A flashing yellow warning light on Carmel Valley Road near Country Club Drive will not help prevent accidents.

This is the opinion of Bruce McClain, county road commissioner. His letter was read at a chamber of commerce meeting Thursday by Skip Marquard, who presided.

He replied to an inquiry from Bob Kvenild, president of the Carmel Valley Chamber of Commerce, which asked if such a warning would not add to the safety of a dangerous curve at that point, about a mile east of the Village.

McClain said that such warning lights are advisable only at extremely dangerous points, and that in his opinion this curve did not qualify.

He pointed out that a study of the 8 accidents which have occurred there during the past 3 years indicated most were local drivers familiar with the road. Drinking was also a major factor.

He said that a reflective center line has been added in addition to the limits on speed.

61 CHAMBER MEMBERS

There are now 61 members of the local chamber, according to a report read by Pat Swan, treasurer. Last year there were a total of 76 members.

The meeting was told that a drive to bring in more members was already in the planning stage.

One of the new members was present — Nick Lombardo.

Lombardo told the 17 members present about progress on his two new 18-hole golf courses near the mouth of the Valley.

They will be ready for play by December 1 — both of championship calibre. The 260-acre layout will be on both sides of the Carmel River, with 60 acres on the south side of the river. There will be 5 bridges the golfers will use in playing the courses.

In answer to a question he said that no subdivisions are planned near the courses.

CARMEL VALLEY ROAD

Willard T. Branson of Carmel Valley, chairman of the county board of commissioners, attended the meeting.

He was asked how the repairs on the road which the winter rains seriously damaged were coming along, particularly near Miramonte Road where one-way traffic has been in effect for the past two months.

He said that engineering studies have now been completed, and that the job will be ready for bids in two to three weeks.

"This is a major construction job," he said. Piles will have to be sunk, soil compacting on a large scale, and the roadway widened.

Most of the money will come from emergency state funds, financed from a newly enacted 1¢ gas tax.

Branson did not indicate when he thought work would be completed.

NO 'FOR SALE' SIGNS

The meeting discussed whether or not 'for sale' signs should be prohibited on homes in the Valley, when the owner decides to sell his residence.

The idea was proposed by Charles Hoisington, who said that such regulations are now in effect in Carmel as well as elsewhere.

Dr. Edward Marcucci, chairman of the county planning commission, said that such an ordinance, which would have to be enacted by the county, might be difficult to pass.

But he said that if any individual or group, such as the chamber, wanted to propose it, through channels, it would be given every consideration.

Both Hoisington and Marquard said that such signs are unsightly and in view of the many controls on signs of other types and the emphasis on scenic values, such a restriction would be in order.

The Carmel Valley Community Youth Center, in acknowledging a $240 donation from the chamber, said that this money would help in plans to beautify the youth center, including paving, landscaping and painting the exterior of the center.

Ten years ago this week

THE CARMEL WOMEN'S Garden Club tour includes the 1200-acre ranch home of Mrs. Henry Potter Russell. The entire lower floor of the 42-room towered mansion of Spanish Mediterranean design will be opened for the tour.

CAPT. AND MRS. THOMAS B. McKiernon and Wm. Mallek were among the usual generous blood donors at the Valley Bloodmobile. All attending were highly entertained by the FIRE CALL, which sent off the sirens and equipment.

DEBRIS LEFT BY THE 1958 FLOODS was cleared and the Smiths' island was removed in what the Soil Conservation Service called "good river practice."

DEMONSTRATION OF SILVER WORK done by members of Joseph Ricupero's class was shown at the Tularcitos Multipurpose Room when the C.V. Gem and Mineral Society met.

BRUNCH WAS SERVED TO Valleyites at the Trail and Saddle Club to show those interested in seeing the newly-acquired property and what had been accomplished in the creation of the recreation area.

THE FRANK PORTERS and Mrs. Mamie Harris were to land in San Francisco from a tour of the Orient.

SECOND PRIZE in the Road-e-o safe driving contest for Monterey High students was won by Mickey Antoncich.

New officers nominated by Carmel Valley Lions Club

Tom Bordonaro has been nominated as president of the Carmel Valley Lions Club for 1969-1970.

The nominating committee presented its recommendations at last week's meeting at Los Laureles Lodge.

Those nominated for other offices at the meeting are as follows:

1st vice president - Charlie Gansel.
 2nd vice president - Leroy Dufur and Phil Wright.
 3rd vice president - Ed Eagling and Mal Tavares.
 Secretary - Bill Stowers.
 Treasurer - Cliff Bolgard.
 Lion Tamer - Pete Baxter.
 Tail Twister - Sal Ocampo.
 Directors, 2 year term (3 to be elected) - Mike Downey,

Art Fosso, John Koon, Libby Lincoln, Maury Nessel and Don Laird.

Directors whose term has one year remaining are Dick Gaymen, Warren Douglas and Mal Tavares. Directors retiring this year are Bob Hebert, Jack Black and Norm Skadan.

The election will be held April 24th.

Those who won prizes at the recent Wine & Roses Ball, sponsored by the local Lions, were as follows:

Grand Door Prize (roundtrip to Las Vegas) - Carlos E. Motta of Pacific Grove. Other winners were Les T. Thompson of Salinas, Wm. Hall and Skip Stolte of Carmel Valley, Skip Murry, Mr. Braheny and Chris Rust of Monterey, and W. Anderson of Pacific Grove.

Receives facial injuries

In an accident near Via Petra, Glenn Webb of Carmel Meadows received facial lacerations in a rear-end collision at noon Saturday.

According to the highway patrol, Webb was west-bound when he struck the rear of a car driven by Debra Burleson of Carmel, which was halted for a left turn.

The victim was taken to Community Hospital by Red Cross ambulance operated by the Carmel Volunteer Firemen.

Voters to pick winners Tuesday Children's theatre offers workshop

Voters go to the polls Tuesday to vote for two vacancies to be filled on the governing board of the Carmel Unified School District.

The six candidates running for office are Rev. James W. Brock, incumbent; Reginald W. Dewar, Mrs. Eldon E. (Andrea) Gill, James I. Miller, Ruth Fill Morrice, and Barbara B. Sanford.

Four of the above contestants have been presented in the last two issues of the Outlook. This week the platforms of Mrs. Gill and Mrs. Morrice are presented.

Mrs. Eldon Eugene Gill (Andrea) is unique in that she is the only candidate for the Carmel School Board of Trustees who has no children now attending local schools.

When asked about her reasons for running for office, Mrs. Gill said, "I concur with the Swiss child psychologist, Jean Piaget, who believes that education begins in the cradle. It continues only when assisted by dedicated teachers who encourage each individual to think for himself, each forming his own conclusions based on accumulated facts.

Mrs. Gill believes that because she has no current family responsibilities, she would be able to devote full time to the job of school trustee.

NINE LANGUAGES

Educated in schools in the United States and Mexico City, she obtained her A.B. at California State, and M.A. at Long Beach in the field of English literature. In addition, she speaks nine languages and recently qualified in Russian.

On a national level, Mrs. Gill believes in the separation of education from the Department of Health and Welfare. In other words, she believes President Nixon should create a cabinet position exclusively devoted to education.

Locally a member of the Carmel Republican Women's Club, and an active church member, she also acts as a substitute teacher in the area.

MRS. MORRICE

Born in New York and brought up in California and Massachusetts, Mrs. Morrice has a B.A. and M.A. and has done most of her qualifying work for a doctorate from Boston University in American and English Literary Criticism. Having earned her own education with work in hospitals and personnel offices, she has reactivated her educational career at Berkeley and San Jose State Graduate School.

She has taught from kindergarten through college in all Monterey County schools, and has previously been a teacher at William and Mary College,

An afternoon workshop will be offered by the Children's Experimental Theatre, under Culver Stockton College, Hartnell College and Hinsdale High School. She has assisted youth of this area in special workshops.

She lives with her husband, John B. Morrice, and four children on Trevis Way. Daughter Christina is a freshman at the University of California, Santa Barbara, and son John F. Morrice is a junior at San Jose State. Two children at home are George, 9, student at River School, and Eleanor, 12, at Middle School.

TEACHING CREDENTIALS

Mrs. Morrice, whose husband is a welfare supervisor, is teacher-principal of Olympia School in San Juan Bautista, and teaches 5th through 8th grades. Her California credential allows her to teach at all levels. She has a counselor's credential and is working on an administrative credential.

"I believe in well-run, well-housed, well-staffed schools that are open to teach everybody and which never lose sight of the best of the traditional wisdom and never fail to use the best of the new methods without ever becoming extreme," she said.

"Parents should educate their children to their religions and sex views," she continued. "Courses in the study of these subjects should be available to students upon the approval of the parent so that no child grows up vulnerable."

Her slogan is: "Pick the child up from where he is and take him as far as he can go."

the direction of Marcia Gambrell Hovick Saturday from 2 to 3:30 p.m. at the Monterey Peninsula College.

The workshop will be held during the regional arts conference being co-sponsored by the California Arts Commission, MPC, and the Arts Coordinating Council.

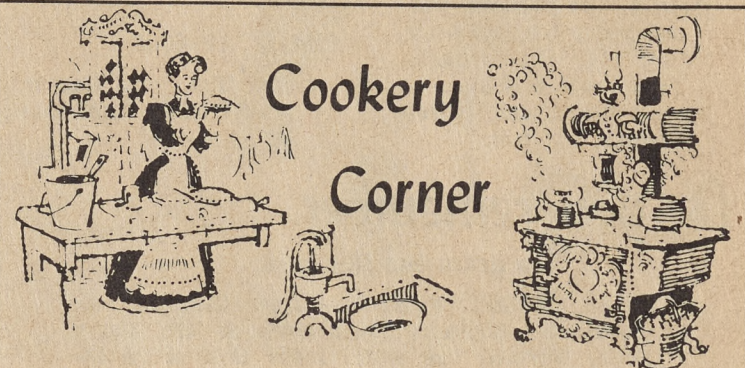

Rehearsal improvisations by the children of the Theatre from 3rd grade to high school will be demonstrated. The mounting of an historical play complete with fencing instruction for the beginning of an elaborate fight as well as voice, movement and pantomime techniques will be included in the afternoon session in the MPC lecture-forum.

Those who are registered for the conference will be invited to a showing at the Forest Theatre in Carmel at 8:30 in the evening for an Easter play now being given by the Theatre group.

Other afternoon workshops will include one on art galleries and museums conducted by Dr. Richard McLanathan, visiting art consultant for the conference and one by Mrs. Sue McDonald of the California Arts Commission on Arts Council development.

The conference which begins at 9:30 a.m. and runs to 4:30 p.m. is open to the public and reservations may be made by calling 624-5560.

BY MRS. B.C. FORRESTER

TO ADD A LITTLE SNAP, USE GINGER

In 1858, one didn't run down to a supermarket for ginger cookies or ginger snaps. Nor would the ladies of that year have settled for the sweetish cakes hardly tasting of ginger, which are today boxed and distributed. If you really like ginger try these recipes:

GINGER CAKES

Mix 4 ounces of lard and 4 ounces of butter, melted, with 4 ounces of brown sugar, 1 pint of molasses, 2 teaspoonsful of ground ginger and 1 quart of flour. Strain 2 teaspoonsful of soda dissolved in 1 wineglass (1/3 cup) of milk, and add it to the above with sufficient flour for rolling the cakes out thin. Cut the dough into small cakes and bake them in a slow oven (around 325).

GINGER CRACKERS

1 quart of molasses 3/4 pound of butter
1 teacupful of sugar 6¢ worth of ground cinnamon (1 tsp)
2¢ worth of ground cloves (1 tsp)

With this use as much flour as will form a good dough. Roll out thin, cut with biscuit cutter, bake in slow oven (325).

Tell that gun-toting levi-clad young "cowboy" of yours, he is one up on his grandfather's father. In 1858, this was high fashion for boys of 8 years and younger: "A straw cap for a small boy ornamented with a white feather and heavy white ribbon." And small boys wore such caps and like it, or else!

This represented male thinking of the era, which to a lesser extent carries over today:

"Men in dying make their wills...but wives
Escape a work so sad!!
Why should they make what all their lives
The gentle dames HAVE HAD!!

RECIPE FROM THE SCIENTIFIC AMERICAN:

To keep butter cool in the hottest weather. (Good for a camping trip now if you have no refrigeration.)

"Procure a large new flower pot of sufficient size to cover the butter plate, and also a saucer large enough for the flower pot to rest in up side down. Place a trivet in the saucer, and put on the trivet the plate of butter; now fill the saucer with water, and turn the flower pot over the butter, so that the edges will be below the water.

The hole in the flower pot must be fitted with a cork; the butter will then be in what we call an air-tight chamber. Let the whole of the outside of the flower pot be then thoroughly drenched with water, and place it in as cool a place as possible....if done in the morning the butter will be firm as a rock at tea hour."

The Scientific American gives the following explanation: "The reason for this is that when water evaporates, it produces cold; the porous pot draws up the water, which in warm weather quickly evaporates from the sides, thus cools it, and as no warm air can now get at the butter, it becomes firm and cold on the hottest day."

To close we will give you an 1858 recipe which will make your hair curl. (Or will it leave any hair?)

Put two pounds of common soap, cut small, into three pints of spirits of wine, with 8 ounces of potash, and melt the whole by a slow fire, stirring it with a piece of wood. Add some essence of amber, vanilla, and neroli (Oil of Orange Flower) to render the fluid agreeable.

Well, if that doesn't make your hair curl nothing will, but you can't get the makings from a modern pharmacy without ordering far in advance.

No matter what the story—
folk tale, information, or fiction—— "Only the rarest kind of best in anything can be good enough for the young"—

Kites to fly high at Middle School

Home made kites will take to the air Saturday, when contestants in the annual Kite Festival meet at the Carmel Middle School athletic field at 1:30 p.m.

The activity is co-sponsored by the CUSD and the Carmel Lions Club, with prizes and awards given.

Rules define that all kites must be home-made with no commercial kites allowed; each kite entered must fly to be eligible for prizes; each kite may be entered in one age group only; kites entered in any previous year will not qualify for entry again this year; and registration must be made.

Kites will be judged on flying, best workmanship and prettiest. The age groups are 8 years and younger, 13 through 15 years, 9 through 12 years, 16 years and over.

Registration forms must be turned in at the Middle School Athletic Field on the day of the Kite Festival between 1 p.m. and 1:30 p.m. to obtain an entry number.
